

Arkansas Valley Electric Cooperative gave CSCDC a check for $4,000 last week from their Roundup for Change Program. The funds received can be used by our utility assistance program to help low-income individuals or families with emergency energy assistance needs.

The Roundup for Change program works like this: Arkansas Valley will round up utility bills of participating members to the next dollar. For example, if your bill were $41.70, it would be “rounded up” to $42. Your maximum contribution per year could be $11.88, but generally will be less than that, averaging $6 per year. Arkansas Valley Electric Cooperative members are continuing the “neighbor helping neighbor” concept by contributing to this program that Arkansas Valley established years ago.
